

What are Hand-Tied Extensions?

Hand-tied extensions are wefts of high quality, ethically sourced human hair which are placed in horizontal rows along the head. The wefts are carefully sewn into a beaded track of the client's hair. This method is completely customizable for both short and long hair. Hand-tied extensions provide incredible volume and length, while maintaining a completely natural look!

Why choose Hand-Tied Extensions?

- No damage to the hair
- Minimal points of contact
- Faster install than other methods
- Natural-looking from roots to ends
- Requires less maintenance
- No slippage or falling
- Provides maximum hair volume

How to care for Hand-Tied Extensions

BRUSHING

- Brush daily with an extension brush.
- Firmly lay a hand on the base of your tracks.
- Start from the bottom and work your way up.

WASHING

- Thoroughly brush your hair before washing.
- Wet hair and apply sulfate free shampoo from roots to ends.
- Massage shampoo in between the tracks, and through the ends. Avoid rubbing the base of the tracks as this can cause tangle and/or matting.
- Apply a moisturizing conditioner and carefully press it into the hair from top to bottom; leave conditioner on for 5 minutes, then thoroughly rinse out.

BLOW DRYING

- Carefully towel dry hair without rubbing.
- "Rough dry" or air dry until 90% dry before using any styling brushes to finish your look.
- Do not blow dry your hair upside down as this can cause tangling and/or matting.

BEDTIME

- Always tie your hair together or put in a low braid before you go to sleep to prevent matting.

SWIMMING

- Heavily apply a leave-in conditioner and put in a braid.
- After swimming, open the braid and carefully sort through with fingers and towel dry.
- Brush thoroughly when 90% dry.
